Dear Principal

SCHOOL-BASED LEARNING: TEACHING PRACTICE - LESSON OBSERVATION

The Nelson Mandela University's Faculty of Education: School of Initial Teacher Education, in collaboration with schools, has the important task of preparing well-equipped teachers who will be caring, productive citizens of this country, and who will be globally competitive as well.

For us to realise this vision, students are expected to spend a specified time in schools during their period of development. We are now sending our B Ed 2nd Year students to do school-based learning in their home town schools as follows:

13 January to 31 January 2025 (15 days)

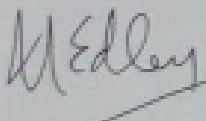

They will be expected to observe actual teaching under the guidance of mentor teachers. Students will be provided with a study guide detailing activities to submit.

We humbly request you to accommodate the student at your school:
